

CROWNING GLORY

ALL THE TOOLS AND TRICKS TO EMULATE THOSE LUSTROUS LOCKS OF CATHERINE, DUCHESS OF CAMBRIDGE.

WORDS Levanah Reyes-Wainwright

If you want the glossy mane of the Duchess but whatever you do or use it's not working, then invest in your hair by seeing a trichologist. The Philip Kingsley Clinic (philipkingsley.co.uk) in the heart of Mayfair has a team of highly experienced and dedicated hair specialists, who provide expert advice and treatment for all types of hair loss and scalp concerns. With countless A-List clientele, even if you are just looking to improve hair growth, the team will look at how diet, stress and lifestyle are affecting your hair and suggest changes to greatly improve its appearance. To encourage enviable thick hair, add LA Science Follicle Stimulating Shampoo (£14.99, Boots) and Anti Hair Loss Serum (£29.99, Boots) to your routine. This advanced healthy hair growth system maximizes hair growth and shine with a nourishing peptide complex, for long strong hair that screams 'health'.

Catherine's hairdresser of choice Richard Ward that styles the hair we all covet has now released his own range of couture haircare. His Clay Mineral Conditioning Treatment Masque (£23, mycouturehair.com) is brilliant if your tresses are craving an intensive, extra moisture surge and shine injection that doesn't weigh down the hair. To improve your hair's manageability, nourish and detangle the hair and reduce blow-drying time, there is only one product for the job - MoroccanOil (£30.45, 0800 310 1133). Infused with argan oil, this cult treatment will instantly absorb into the hair to create luminous shine and luxurious Duchess worthy locks.

For the perfect Duchess inspired blow-dry at home, the BaByliss Big Hair (£45, Argos) styler creates voluminous hair with zero hassle. Big Hair's large rotating hot air brush builds fullness, body and bounce with ease, whilst the soft bristles and ceramic barrel simultaneously add smoothness and shine. A quick spritz of Richard Ward's Volumiser Root Booster (£19, mycouturehair.com) before blow-drying will leave your locks ultra glossy and full of lustrous volume.

Catherine is great at changing up her hairstyle to fit the occasion. On her's and Prince William's trip to Canada, Catherine sported a manageable yet stylish high ponytail. To emulate her look Flip-In Hair's Pasoday Ponytail (£124.99, flipinhair.co.uk) available in 43 divine colours, gives you an instant ponytail that hooks around your existing hair making it impossible to detect that it's not real. Also favoured by the Duchess is the classic and simple to achieve chignon. If your hair isn't as thick as you would like to copy this hairstyle, then grab an Artemis Bun from Annabelle's Hair Couture (£36, annabelleswigs.co.uk). This faux drawstring bun is available in 9 shades and is made with Flexihair which looks and feels like real hair for a natural finish. ■
